

Physical Activity in Contemporary Education (PACE)
September 20-22, 2007
Illini Union
University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign

The Department of Kinesiology and Community Health at the University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign and the National Association for Sport and Physical Education have partnered to host a national conference related to facilitating wellness and physical activity across the school curriculum. Given the national crisis related to inadequate nutrition, physical inactivity, and obesity, this conference is especially timely. The target audience includes school-based professionals, such as physical education teachers, classroom teachers, nutritional personnel, and administrators. University faculty and researchers will find the conference particularly valuable. Nationally recognized scholars, teachers, and leaders in the field have been invited to speak on topics that have the potential to change the face of physical education.
